

'I've heard rumours that Katie wants to adopt a child, and she's pleased to report that it's true. 'I'd love to, and I've got someone looking to that for me. I wouldn't be bothered where the child was from,' she says. 'I'm not worried about the colour of the baby's skin. I just want to offer a child a good home.' Katie wears dress by New Look. But Harvey can actually say two words together now. Before if I said: 'Say love you Mum' he'd try to repeat me but say: 'Umm Mum'. But now he can say 'love Mum'.

What presents did Junior get?

We didn't give him anything to unwrap on the day because he doesn't know about presents and unwrapping things, so I just got him a paddling pool and a few things for the garden, toys he can play with outside. Next year when he's older and understands a bit more I'll wrap up presents.

Whose personality traits does Junior have more of - yours or Peter's?

'I'd like five or six kids, but it depends on how many my body can take'

Well he's got a temper on him, so he looks like Pete but he probably acts more like me. At the moment he's a little bit spoilt because Pete's mum and dad had him when we were away recently. They looked after him really well, but you know what nans and grandads are like and he came home a little bit spoilt. But that's what nans and grandads are for - if they can't spoil him, who can?

How did they spoil him?

He definitely gets more attention when he's with them, he's always being picked up and fussed over, so at the moment he wants to be picked up all the time. I'm not complaining because you can never give a child enough love, but I also >
